2- Department of Intergovernmental Affairs

Communications

Between January 1st and June 30th, the Department of Communications served as liaison between the various departments of the Québec Government House as well as between the American and Québec communities. The Department gathered information regarding political, economic, academic and general questions, distributing it to the press, to our staff and to the general public.

1. Québec politics and economy

Québec's general elections on April 13 were the major political event of the period under review. The Department of Communications was responsible for the organization of "Election Night" at Québec Government House. The 250 guests included representatives from the Canadian Consulate, the media, the business and financial communities, Quebecers living in New York and American citizens interested in Québec.

The Department of Communications also helped promote a 6-day conference on Québec's economic and political development, held in Montréal and Québec city. The event, entitled "Contemporary Québec", was publicized through the Québec Government House weekly newsletter, Québec Update, and through a brochure distributed to 300 financial and academic institutions.

2. Legal documents and related information

Requests for information dealt mainly with civil and religious marriage, death and birth certificates, drivers' licenses, wills, health and automobile insurance, social security, real estate, land transfer tax, immigration procedures, the language law, etc.

3. Education, arts and culture

During the first half of 1981, the Department of Communications was instrumental in publicizing five major Québec artists events which took place in New York:

- the commercial distribution of Francis Mankiewicz's film Les Bons Débarras;
- Michel Poulette's film Betwixt Freud and Dracula at the American Film Festival;
- The performances of Pointépiénu at the Riverside Church Dance Festival;
- Les Grands Ballets Canadiens' appearance at the Lehman Center for Performing Arts;
- Kate and Anna McGarrigle's show at the Bottom Line.

In cooperation with the French Institute/Alliance française, the Department of Communications set up a twelve-month cine-club program of feature-length films from Québec.

INSERT ITEM II

NEW YORK (4)

In March 1981, the Department of Communications participated in the American Association of Teachers of French's annual conference at the Statler Hilton Hotel, in New York.

The Department provided several colleges and universities with varied material on Québec culture, history, politics, economy and arts. Most of these documents were used during seminars and courses on Québec civilization. The Communications staff gave assistance to teachers organizing tours in Québec and visited high schools and colleges to give conferences and film presentations on Québec.

For instance, a representative of the Department of Communications visited Brooklyn College, in March; Ramapo College and Fair Lawn High School (both in New Jersey), during the month of February.

In addition, the Department of communications distributed films and video cassettes made in Québec to various schools in the territory served by Québec Government House in New York. Québec records were also made available to schools, universities and private radio stations in this area.

Québec's National Holiday, the Saint Jean-Baptiste, was celebrated at Québec Government House in New York on June 24. Among some 400 guests were representatives from the Canadian Consulate, the media and the press, Quebecers living in New York, francophiles and Americans interested in Québec.

4. Relations with the press

The Department made contacts for the American press seeking interviews with Québec officials and personalities or wishing to cover certain events in Québec. For example, the Communications team met with Business Week Magazine's Christopher Frey and Sherman Davis, and contributed to the organization of their visit to Québec. The Department also helped Life Magazine by providing material for an article on the James Bay Hydro-electric project.

Furthermore, the Department helped foreign press based in New York obtain interviews in Québec. Assistance was notably given to German Television's Erich Vogt, by supplying him with relevant data needed to document his broadcast on Québec City. The communications provided information on Québec artists for New York correspondent of the French Magazine Marie-Claire, Catherine Texier.

The Department of Communications made arrangements for Gannett News Service reporter John Omicinski's meeting with Québec Delegate General, Richard Pouliot, during his visit to Albany.

During the last six months, the Department also provided the American media with press kits or press releases on: Ciné-Club Québec at French Institute/Alliance française, results of the Québec general elections, Hydro-Québec, acid rain, and several cultural events.

NEW YORK (5)

5. Documentation

The Department of Communications puts out a weekly newsletter Québec Update, which is distributed to approximately 2,000 individuals and companies, of the business, financial and academic communities throughout the territory served by the Québec Government House in New York. Each issue of Québec Update is filed with the U.S. Department of Justice and a mention of this fact appears on the cover page.

In February, the Department published the third issue of Québec News, a 12-page newspaper --8 in English and 4 in French-- which deals with the promotion of Québec culture in general, the teaching of French as a second language, and which covers the activities of Québec Government Houses in the United States. 20,000 copies of Québec News were distributed through these Québec Government offices. The February issue was filed with the U.S. Department of Justice and a mention of this fact appears on the back page.

During the period under review the Communications team issued twenty five (25) press coverage reviews for the exclusive use of our staff.

From January 1st to June 30th, the Department received about 20 books and 3 leaflets from Québec dealing with the following: acid rain, the role of the United Kingdom Parliament in relation to the British North America Act and Ottawa's plan to patriate the Canadian Constitution. The publications were advertized in the weekly newsletter Québec Update, and distributed free of charge upon request. The Department also received video cassettes, textbooks, films, records, in both French and English, from various Québec producers and publishers. This material was placed in our library or used during educational events.

In addition, the Department of Communications periodically coordinates the contents of the Québec Government House show windows in Rockefeller Center. The displays invariably highlight Québec cultural and/or industrial achievements, products and events.

Educational Affairs

During the first half of 1981, the Cultural services were active primarily in the following areas:

- our relations with college and university administrators in an effort to develop programs of cooperation in education;
- the promotion of summer courses in French in Québec;
- the promotion of conferences held in Québec during that time;

INSERT ITEM II

NEW YORK (7)

3- Department of Industry, Commerce and Tourism

From January 1st to June 30, the Economic section of the Quebec Delegation in New York has spent, as usual, some 70% of its time promoting the sales of Québec products in its territory. During that period, the Québec Department of Industry, Commerce and Tourism has sponsored the participation of several Québec manufacturers in the following trade shows and missions:

- NAMSB, N.Y. Coliseum, March 1981
- Defense Industrial Center, Philadelphia, May 1981
- Defense General Supply Center, Richmond, Pa., June 1981.

During that period, we have also organized and received technical missions from Québec, namely:

- Mission of a group of students from the Fashion Institute of Technology to visit Place Bonaventure and certain Québec clothing manufacturers, in March.
- Mission of 43 students from the Association Internationale des Etudiants en Sciences Economiques et Commerciales (AIESEC), affiliated to the University of Montreal on a visit of international organizations in New York, in March.

We have attended a conference organized by the Canadian Consulate in Philadelphia, the International Business Forum, and the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, where the guest speaker was State Minister - Commerce, Mr. Ed Lumley and some of the topics covered were the Buy American Act, defense sharing and the national energy policy.

The Economic Counsellor also attended a seminar organized by Fordham University entitled: "Canada's Energy Policies".

We were also instrumental in having 3 Québec doll manufacturers participating in an in-store promotion organized by F.A.O. Schwartz of N.Y. under the theme: "A parade of dolls".

On May 27, we have organized in our trade center a food promotion day, at which time 26 Québec food companies participated and guests responding to our invitation included over 80 people consisting of food buyers, brokers, food magazine editors, etc.

Furthermore, during that period, we have organized twelve individual showings in the trade center of the Delegation in the fields of women's wear, fashion accessories, Québec craft, dolls, lighting fixtures, jewellery and giftwear.

We have highlighted in the windows rented by the Delegation in the International building of Rockefeller center, Eskimo sculptures, and furniture design.

INSERT ITEM II

NEW YORK (8)

We have sent our two mailings of our publication entitled "Québec Economique," reaching on each occasion over 750 top executives.

During the period in review, we have provided assistance to over 200 Québec manufacturers to whom we have supplied market information and have accompanied many of these exporters in the field. Our market research has led us to use the good services of the New York Chamber of Commerce, the U.S. Department of Commerce, the Business Marketing Corporation, the Conference Board of New York and a number of trade associations.

We have, of course, maintained contacts with the press and the media.

To conclude, the officers of the Economic section have continued their public relations role of keeping in touch with U.S. head-offices having branch plants in Québec and also maintaining contacts with the financial community.

Tourism

Québec is experiencing an enormous deficit in the touristic exchange with the United States. Although we do not believe a balance could be attainable, our objective is to try and reduce our deficit as much as feasible, by providing the American public with all necessary information for a better knowledge and perception of the Province of Québec.

In order to reach that goal, our action has been geared towards the general public on one hand and the American travel industry and media on the other.

Our Communications Center has welcomed approximately 6,000 visitors, has answered 8,000 requests by telephone and has mailed to about 10,000 potential tourists literature on Québec.

An advertising campaign has been launched mid-May for a period of 8 weeks by means of television, radio and magazines.

We have been particularly active in maintaining a close relationship with the U.S. trade industry, principally in the wholesale area:

- produced and supplied travel agents and media with the necessary material;
- on request, partly financed some projects in cooperation with local agents;
- participated in all major American trade shows and seminars;
- maintained contact with all possible carriers such as airlines, bus companies and steamship lines;

INSERT ITEM II

NEW YORK

- in cooperation with carriers serving our destinations, organized and operated familiarization tours to Québec for American travel agents.
- with respect to new possibilities, created by the amendment of Bill 602, no longer restricting meetings and conventions in Canada, we have offered our services to numerous organizations susceptible to plan their future meetings in the Province of Québec.
- established plans for closer cultural links, between the U.S. and Québec through tourism, for students of the French language.
- promoted sporting events, and ski in particular, amongst ski clubs and sports associations.

Our status in the following associations is as follows:

Active member of the	Assembly of National Tourist Office, Representatives in New York
Allied member of	Society of American Travel writers New York Travel Writers Association New York American Society of Travel agents New York Society of Association Exe- cutives

Also attend meetings of the Travel Research Association.

During the period under review, the personnel at our office in Dallas had contacts with the U.S., the State and Municipal Government in Texas, and the State Office of the Governor and the City of Albuquerque in New Mexico. These contacts were either to obtain statistics or miscellaneous information related to our activities or just courtesy calls.

Individual contacts were also made with businesses, other Canadian representatives, Chambers of Commerce, trade associations, social clubs and at meetings of the Consular Corps of Dallas and Fort Worth.

2- Department of Intergovernmental Affairs

Communications

Documentary films, videotapes and records were lent to schools and colleges, and brochures and posters distributed, all of economic, touristic or cultural content, mostly on request from French teachers.

A weekly bulletin and other promotional and informative material were also mailed to about 175 individuals in the business, financial and academic fields and to the news media on our territory.

Two surveys were conducted among 52 universities and colleges to find courses available on Québec and Canada and to receive the catalog of the fifteen schools of medicine located in the five states covered by our office.

Many conventions related to sciences and education to be held in Québec were promoted, and one teacher from Québec was invited by the University of New Mexico to give a 30-hour course on Québec literature.

Educational Affairs

Missions promoting French Summer schools, books and records, and a group of Québec performers were also organized, and a program of visits was arranged, in Kansas and Texas, for two directors of Québec institutions of correction.

Finally, we participated at the last Texas French Symposium held in Houston, Texas, and we donated a scholarship to a student for achieving the second best results at the various contests.

Cultural Affairs

Exhibits of engraving by Québec artists were also held consecutively in Albuquerque and in Dallas.

A series of activities featuring a reputable Québec poet and organized by the Department of Modern and Classical Languages of the University of New Mexico and our office, were presented in Albuquerque during the month of March. A film and a play from compositions of the artist and many public appearances were the essence of this activity.

3- Department of Industry, Commerce and Tourism

During the period under review, we assisted a group of six manufacturers who came to visit the Offshore Technology Conference in Houston, Texas. Many other exhibitions were visited in Louisiana and Texas, and our impressions and recommendations for future participation were transmitted to our correspondents in Montreal.

Miscellaneous requests for information and help for visiting Québec businessmen were satisfied.

We have also participated in three seminars (North Texas Commission, International Trade Association of Dallas, Conference Canada).

Mailings of economic documentation, statistics and of the bulletin "Québec Economic" were also made to a list of business people, mostly located around Dallas.

Tourism

We participated at a total of five travel shows in Dallas and Houston during the last six months: two as a member of the Association of Official Tourist Offices in Texas, one as member of ASTA, and two more as part of the Ski Group '81 destinations. All five were successful for destination Québec.

These promotions and other mailings to travel agents brought along an unprecedented number of requests for information during the last six months.

We also assisted one of our government owned travel agency offering hunting and fishing trip packages at the last Dallas Sport Show.
